Mr. Prime Minister, Dear Sir:

Dear Mr. Rana,
THE HUNT MUST STOP!
GREENPEACE is calling for an immediate phase-out of an unnecessary and cruel whaling operation in the Faroe Islands.
The Faroes, a protectorate of Denmark, lie in the North Atlantic between Iceland and Scotland. For more than four hundred years pilot whales have been herded, driven ashore, and slaughtered for meat.
Until the 1960's the meat from these drives was an essential part of the diet of the Faroe people. But now it is a luxury item, sold at a premium to a population which today enjoys a high standard of living.

Grót til ein mánað aftrat. So fer arbeiðs-fólkið heim

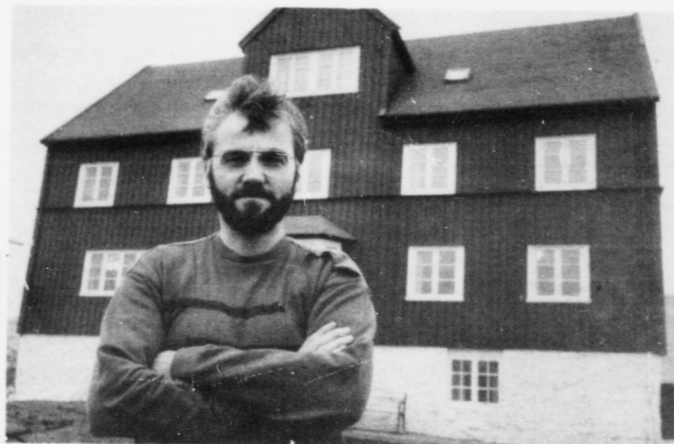

— Um virkið flytur í aðra kommunu, sum talan hevur verið um, er ógvuliga óvist

Faroe Stone hevur grót eftir til ein mánað. Hvat so hendir, veit ongin enn.

Grindadrápið í Føroyum jarnbrotið hjá Greenpeace

— og øðrum umhvørvisfelagsskapum, sum vilja vinna sær undirtøku í royndunum at friða allan smáhval á heimsins høvum -

Kjartan Hoydal, fiskivinnustjóri: Altjóða umhvørvisfelagsskapir sum Greenpeace vilja steðga grindadrápi fyrri einhvønn pris, og brúka grindadrápið sum jarnbrot í royndunum at friða øll hvalasløg — eisini smáhval — á heimshøvunum. Føroyska grindadrápið er nú symbolið uppá stríðið fyrri verju av smáhvali eisini.

But while a victory for pilot whales is essential to protect all marine mammals, procrastination risks terrible dangers. Unless we take advantage of the extraordinary opportunity in the Faroes immediately, we may be too late.

When you send GREENPEACE a tax-deductible donation of $20, $25, $50 or more -- today -- you'll make a crucial difference in our campaign to save the pilot whales ... and the other marine mammals.

On behalf of the GREENPEACE team in the fields, thank you for reaffirming your support of GREENPEACE at this critical juncture.

Sincerely,

Douglas Johnson
