CHURCHILL'S GOOD NEWS

«Everything in human power is being done to bring British and American forces against Germany in full force», said Mr. Churchill yesterday to a packed and enthusiastic House of Commons during his review of the war and report on the Casablanca and Adana conferences. «Mr. Roosevelt and I have urged our chiefs of staff to put more weight and more speed into their attacks».

A complete plan of action for the next nine months is now in being and will be ruthlessly fulfilled in order to save our Russian allies from the full weight of the German army and air force. Britain has also undertaken to shift the whole weight of her fighting forces to the East for the final victory against Japan in order to obtain the «unconditional surrender», which is to be the condition of peace. «Justice, stern and implacable, must be meted out to the wicked and guilty by the Allies but these warrior nations», as Mr. Churchill now referred to the allies, «will not stain our victorious arms by any acts of mere vengeance».

U-BOATS SINKING

The second front in Europe is obviously conditional upon shipping and consequently the battle of the Atlantic remains the most important. «But however much faith Mr. Hitler may put in his submarines they cannot avert his doom; he may only delay it by them». Their effectiveness has gone down in the three years of war so that the «Bag» of a submarine during its short life has fallen from 19 ships in 1940 to 12 ships in 1941 and only 7 1/2 in 1942.

A great amount of attention had been given to the production to escort vessels equipped with all the latest devices and these are doing magnificent work in our convoys, so that the chance of anyone losing his life is now thousands to one against. «Our shipping losses are still lamentable and grievous» said Mr.

at gyrða 2--300000 týskar hermenn inni í Donbogunum og kanska annaðslikt í ymsum »lummum« í Kaukasus.

Her er týski herurin klovinn í tvey og at kalla avskorinn frá øllum sambandi við meginherin.

Fáa tær týsku herstyrkirnar í Kaukasus eins og millum Kursk og Rostov somu lagnu sum 6. herliðið við Stalingrad, halda kærni menn, at hin týska hermaktin fær eitt bakkest, sum hon ikki orkar at taka seg fram aftur frá.

Men um Týskaranna álopsmegi verður ryggbrotni nú í Russlandi, kann kríggjð kortini koma at vara bæði eitt og tvey ár aftrat, bara Týskurin ikki »brotnar« innanifrá, men heldur á til seinasta mann at verja seg.

Churchill «but it is good to be able to reveal that during the last 6 months the total of allied shipping has actually increased by 1 1/4 million tons».

EISENHOWER PROMOTED

With the entry of the Eighth Army into Tunisia it has come under command of Eisenhower, now promoted full general. General Alexander becomes his Deputy Commander. His position as C. in C., Middle East Forces has been taken by General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, formerly Commander of the Tenth Army in Palestine and Irak. Admiral Cunningham's command is now extended over the whole Mediterranean and Air Chief Marshal Tedder is to command all air forces in that theatre of operations.

In Tunisia yesterday Italian positions near Bizerta were attacked by British and French commandoes together with men of a Midland regiment. Most of the French forces are being withdrawn to be equipped with the modern equipment which has now arrived for them. Inside the Southern border in the region of Ben Gardene, strong tank and artillery opposition has been encountered.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Nurses are to have better working conditions; they are to have a 96 hour fortnight, at least one day off each week and 28 days of paid holidays a year; minimum wages will be £115 for student nurses, £190 staff nurses, £230 ward sisters and £350 for senior sisters.

Railways were again the principal targets during daylight raids by our home-based bombers on Rosendal in Holland and Caen in France.

U. S. General Arnold and Chief of British Staff Sir John Dill are now in Chungking conferring with Generalissimo Chiang Kai Chek as a sequel to the Casablanca conference.

Loftkríggjð:

Januar mánaði fer at vera mintur sum ein týðningarmikil millasteinur, av tí at Berlin varð bombaður 4 ferðir — fyrri fyrstu ferð í dagslýsi —, tí januar merkir byrjanina av atsóknum hins áttanda amerikanska lofthersins, — sum staddur er í Bretlandi — móti Týsklandi, og tí ein størri vikt av bombuun varð tveitt niður yvir Týskland og hersettu Europu enn í nekrum vetrarmánaði fyrr.

At bomba Berlin tværreisur í dagslýsi bert við fáum tímum ímillum og missa eitt flogfar má sigast at vera eitt satt roysnisbragd.
